

Join us for a week of learning!

Due to the unfortunate coronavirus pandemic, many of us are stuck at home. However, the cancellations of FIRST events does not mean we should stop learning. A couple of Maryland's Top FTC teams, together with STEMaction, have organized a virtual educational event called "FIRST Online". It is a series of free online workshops during the Maryland School closure week (March 23 to March 27, 2020). The workshops range from introductory courses for people who want to start a team in the coming season to advanced topics for improving your skills. There are also panel discussions that offer rare opportunities to talk to FTC Judge Advisors, Head Referees, and experienced coaches and mentors. Each session has limited seats.
