

Third Biennial Meeting of the North American Kant Society
Call for Papers

Emory University
May 27-29, 2016

Keynote Speakers:

Béatrice Longuenesse (NYU)
Pauline Kleingeld (Gröningen)
John Zammito (Rice)

Author-Meets-Critics:

The Normativity of Nature

Hannah Ginsborg (Berkeley)
Patricia Kitcher (Columbia)
Karl Ameriks (Notre Dame)

Author-Meets-Critics:

Orientation and Judgment in Hermeneutics

Rudi Makkreel (Emory)
Angelica Nuzzo (CUNY)
Eric Wilson (GSU)

The conference will be held at Emory University Conference Center on May 27-29, 2016. The local host/coordinator is Dilek Huseyinzadegan. Please check www.naksmeeting.kantpapers.org for updates and more information on the meeting. We also have a Facebook Page entitled “The North American Kant Society Third Biennial Meeting 2016,”: <https://www.facebook.com/naksmeeting> .

Papers from analytic, continental, and historical approaches, in any area of Kant’s philosophy are welcome. Please identify two areas under which you wish your paper to be considered:

1. Kant’s Precritical Philosophy
2. Metaphysics
3. Epistemology and Logics
4. Philosophy of Science and Nature
5. Teleology
6. Ethics and Moral Philosophy
7. Philosophy of Law and Justice
8. Philosophy of Politics, History and Culture
9. Religion and Theology
10. Aesthetics
11. Kant and German Idealism
12. Kant and Phenomenology
13. Kant in the Present.

Papers should not exceed 20 minutes reading time (approx. 3000 words). Submissions will be anonymously reviewed; please keep any identifying information on a separate page.

We especially encourage graduate student submissions. If you are a graduate student, please identify yourself as such in the personal information page. A $200 travel award will be provided for the best graduate paper and the author will be considered as a candidate for the annual Markus Herz Prize.

Submissions should include two attachments (.doc, .docx, or .pdf): 1) A 3000-word paper, including the notes, prepared for anonymous review, accompanied by a 200-word abstract; 2) Cover page including the title of the paper, word count, author's name, brief bio, and contact information. Please email all documents to: binaksemary@gmail.com

Submission deadline: 11:59pm EST on January 1, 2016

We aim to announce decisions about acceptance by February 10, 2016.